DEAN'S COLUMN

On Monday evening, Nov. 26th, a great group of 25 gathered at Central Union Church for our annual Clergy Appreciation Dinner. After an Italian buffet, our members introduced their guests and then everyone engaged in a get-better-acquainted activity which produced a diverse collection of information not previously known by dinner mates. Everyone was invited to share something (willingly) on paper that might not be known about themselves, randomly draw a folded slip, and then attempt to match the fact with a face. We discovered in our midst a Kindergarten drop-out, an engineer (in a previous career) involved in placing man on the moon, and even an individual held at gunpoint in a Palestinian refugee camp! And much more Congregations represented included Anglican, Lutheran, Roman Catholic, Seventh-day Adventist, and the United Church of Christ. Iolani School was also well represented by two chaplains. Our speakers, Rev. Neal MacPherson and John Renke, spoke knowledgeably about issues of relevance: clergy and musician working relationships, hymnody, worship, music of various styles A discussion followed, and could have easily continued for some time! My thanks again to both speakers and to all who were able to attend.

As you know, we have not planned an AGO chapter event in December. This newsletter will list worship services, special seasonal offerings, and performances for the Advent, Christmas, and Epiphany seasons in various venues. Although many of you may feel the crush of Christmas approaching, I invite you to consider attending an event someone else is hosting, if you can.

May you be blessed once again by the Gift that was given, and the many gifts that you will share and receive through music this season.

Happy holidays!

Margaret Lloyd, Dean

CLERGY APPRECIATION DINNER

November 26, 2007
Central Union Church

Twenty-five people attended the Seventh Annual Clergy Appreciation Dinner at Central Union Church. The tables were festively decorated with red tablecloths and green basil centerpieces (to put everyone in an Italian mood for the pasta bar which followed.) Dean Margaret Lloyd raised the bar for these dinners by having real dinnerware and silverware instead of paper plates and plastic utensils!

Rob Lloyd (left) and Carl Crosier (right) are waiting for the program to begin.

A delightful dialogue ensued between John Renke (left), music director of St. Andrew's Cathedral and Pastor Neal MacPherson (right) of the Church of the Crossroads on the working relationship between clergy and church musicians. Other topics that came up included hymnody, appropriateness of music, contemporary liturgies and more. John said that the person who knows the priest or pastor the best, outside of his spouse, is the organist!

Everyone went home smiling after a most enjoyable evening.
